

INT Medical (1501 HK)

Solid growth with margin improvement

INT Medical's 2024 revenue grew by 13.2% YoY to RMB852mn, 13% below our estimate, mainly due to the pressure on its CDMO business from VBP and intensified competition. The expanding provincial VBP coverage in interventional medical devices drove manufacturers to integrate upstream operations to manage costs. Thanks to the improved gross margin, the Company's attributable net profit in 2024 increased by 22.7% YoY to RMB192mn, with attributable net profit margin rising by 1.7 ppts.

- Significant gross margin improvement. In 2024, INT Medical's gross margin rose by 5 ppts to 63.1%, primarily driven by enhanced capacity utilization and increased automation. Production facilities in Shanghai and Zhuhai commenced operations in mid-2023 and late 2023, respectively. Continued capacity expansion in these two facilities and increased sales volume post-VBP have reduced unit costs. Furthermore, INT Medical implemented cost-reduction and efficiency-enhancement measures, including process optimization and raw material negotiations. We estimate that revenue from VBP products accounted for approximately 30% of domestic revenue in 2024. We think the negative impact of VBP on gross margin should be limited. With rising automation levels, we expect INT Medical's gross margin to remain stable.
- Positive outlook for overseas sales. As of end-2024, INT Medical has broadened its overseas customer base to 281 (vs. 226 in 2023) spanning over 86 countries and regions (vs. 77 in 2023), with 27 CE-certified products and 25 FDA-approved products. In 2024, the overall overseas revenue grew by 24.2% YoY to RMB253mn, representing 29.6% (+2.6 ppts) of the Company's total sales. Notably, markets outside the US and Europe, which contributed 17% of total revenue, maintained strong growth. Overseas revenue from markets outside the US and Europe, excluding agent export business (委托出口业务), surged by 31.7% YoY. We expect INT Medical will maintain its robust growth momentum in the overseas market in 2025E.
- Maintain BUY. We expect solid revenue growth for INT Medical in 2025E, with revenue and attributable net profit up by 20.4% YoY and 7.5% YoY respectively. We revised our earnings forecast to reflect the Company's moderated growth in its CDMO business and consistent investment in R&D and business expansion. We derive a TP at HK$33.68 based on a 9-year DCF model (terminal growth rate: 2.0%, WACC: 10.73%).
