2Q earnings beat; YoY margin expansion remains on track although the pace may slow

Amazon released (2 Aug HKT) 2Q24 results: revenue was US$148.0bn, up 10% YoY, and was largely inline with Bloomberg consensus, and total operating profit was US$14.7bn, up 70% YoY, 7% better than consensus, driven by OPM margin beat for AWS aided by efficient cost control. In view of this, customers are more careful with their spending. Management also turns more cautious, and guided for revenue of US$154.0bn-158.5bn for 3Q24E, the mid-point of which is 1% lower than consensus. Also, the seasonally low 3Q OPM is likely to be dragged by Prime Day deals and marketing spending surrounding the event, as well as the ramp-up in capacity to handle 4Q holiday volume in fulfilment network. The guidance of US$11.5bn-15.0bn for 3Q24E OP was shy of consensus at US$15.8bn. Although the pace of overall OPM expansion likely falls short of market consensus in the short term, the YoY expansion trend remains on track aided by increase in revenue contribution from relatively higher-margin services & AWS, as well as cost optimization initiatives of first party business. To account for 1% lower 2024E EBITDA forecast and slightly higher-than-expected capex investment to aid cloud business expansion, our TP was trimmed to US$207.0 (was US$211.0) based on unchanged 18.8x EV/EBITDA. Reiterate BUY.

- AWS: acceleration in revenue growth and margin expansion sustained in 2Q. In 2Q24, AWS reported revenue of US$26.3bn, and the revenue growth further reaccelerated to 18.7% YoY (2Q23: 12.2%; 1Q24: 17.2%) with companies completed significant majority of their cost optimization efforts, 1% better than market expectation. Operating profit for AWS segment was US$9.3bn in 2Q24, 11% ahead of consensus, and translates into 35.5% OPM (2Q23: 24.2%; 1Q24: 37.6%), mainly driven by the change in estimated useful life of servers, continued focus on cost control including a measured pace of hiring. Management expects OPM of AWS to fluctuate driven by the level of investments, while remains focused on driving efficiencies gains. Management guided for a higher capex in 2H24 compared to that in 1H24 to support cloud business expansion.
- YoY margin expansion sustained for North America (NA) and international business. The ongoing improvement in cost to serve, as well as increase in revenue contribution from ads revenue continued driving YoY margin expansion for both NA and international business in 2Q24, and management believes that there is still room for further YoY margin expansion for both NA and international business. In 2Q, Amazon's North America (NA) business recorded revenue of US$90.0bn, up 9% YoY, and OPM expanded by 1.7pp YoY to 5.6%, inline with consensus. Although the OPM for NA business dipped 0.2pp QoQ, management highlighted that OPM of core store business remained on expansion track QoQ, while this was offset by incremental investments in some of the new initiatives such as Kuiper. For international segment, revenue was US$31.7bn, up 6.6% YoY, and operating margin improved by 3.9pp YoY to 0.9% (consensus: 1.0%).
- Increase in ads revenue contribution remains a long-term driver for margin expansion. In 2Q24, Amazon's revenue of advertising services grew 20% YoY (2Q23: 22%; 1Q24: 24%) to US$12.8bn, aided by strong performance in sponsored ads, as well as incremental revenue contribution generated from Amazon Prime ads. As a percentage of revenue, advertising services contributed to 8.6% of total in 2Q24, increasing from 7.9% in 2Q23.
