➤ DALWAN: Weaker 1H24 results due to non-recurring losses

Dalian Wanda Commercial Management (DWCM) released weaker 1H24 results, reflected the significant increase in credit impairment losses, reversal of investment income from the disposal losses of long-term equity investment and cut in government subsidies. Nonetheless, we take comfort from its 13.7% growth in recurring EBITDA, reflecting the resilience of its property investment portfolio and lower selling expenses. We maintain buy on DALWANs in view of its solid recurring cash inflows, liquidity headroom from further secured financing from its IPs, as well as asset disposals. We note the progress in shareholding change at Zhuhai Wanda level. This will resolve the pre-IPO redemption issue and significantly reduce DWCM's short-term debts. DALWANs were unchanged to 0.75pt lower post 1H24 results.

In 1H24, DWCM's revenue rose 5.5% yoy to RMB26.9bn and c91% revenue was from IP leasing and management segment. DWCM's gross margin increased to 65.6% from 64.6% in 1H23, higher than pre-pandemic level of 58%. In 1H24, DWCM's SG&A expenses decreased 16.0% yoy to RMB2.3bn and its SG&A expense rate declined to 8.6% from 10.9% in 1H23. As a result, DWCM's recurring EBITDA margin improved to 59.7% from 55.5% in 1H23. We expect its operating performance to remain resilience in 2H24 with more government measures in stimulate domestic consumption.

As of Jun'24, DWCM's net debts (excl. pre-IPO redemption) edged up 1.4% to cRMB132bn from RMB130bn in Dec'23. DWCM's short-term debts increased 28.8% yoy to RMB29.6bn and cash to short-term debts dropped to 0.4x from 0.6x. We expect DWCM to conduct more asset disposal in 2H24 to address debt maturities.

DWCM's coming bond maturities are USD180mn installment of extended DALWAN 7.25'24 on 30 Sep'24 and RMB3.1bn onshore bond maturities in 4Q24. We take some comfort that DWCM had cRMB70bn unpledged IPs which would provide cRMB21-35bn liquidity headroom assuming a LTV of 30-50%. Besides, DWCM had wealth management products and financial assets held for trading totaled RMB85.9bn in Jun'24. These financial assets could be another potential liquidity source for DWCM.

As of Jun'24, the PAG-led cRMB32bn reinvestment and cRMB28bn incremental investment had yet to be completed. On 2 Sep'24, DWCM transferred 60% shares of Newland Commercial Management (NCM), the holding company of Zhuhai Wanda Commercial Management (ZWCM), to PAG-led investors. The PAG-led investors subscribed the 60% shares of NCM for cRMB24.3bn and a PAG's partner took over the chairman of the board of NCM from Dalian Wanda's staff. We expect ZWCM to be deconsolidated from DWCM after the completion of PAG-led investment. As discussed before, we believe that the impact on recurring net profit and cash flow should be contained after taking into account of the contribution from associates. The immediate impact of diluting the shareholding in ZWCM to DWCM's balance sheet is positive after the removal of pre-IPO redemption of RMB43.4bn from its ST debts. On an ongoing basis, the deconsolidation of ZWCM should have limited impact as ZWCM only accounted for 3.8% of DWCM's total assets as at Dec'23.
